Provide your customers a unique way to start conversations at the dinner table, at an office party, on a car trip, with their children, or friends about the questions of life. Table Topics ($12.50 each wholesale), a set of more than 135 cards in a 4-inch clear acrylic cube, asks questions both serious and silly: "What is the best and worst thing about being a man or a woman? Is intelligence or common sense more important? Is it more essential to develop beliefs or gain knowledge? In what era would you most like to have grown up? What was the most ridiculous but very cool fashion trend you adopted?"

The newest set of Table Topics is the Spirit edition, which will get your family, friends, and colleagues thinking out loud about some of the more spiritual aspects of life. Spiritual leaders from all the world's traditions created questions that will get even the spiritually complacent thinking: "What virtue would you give to all human beings? How has your understanding of God changed through your life? Who is the most evolved person you know?" The Spirit cards can also be a great journaling tool, offering a wealth of story starters for the novice or seasoned journaler.

Other editions available from Table Topics are Original, Family, Teen, Couples, and Girls Night Out editions. Each series has a brightly colored wrapper to distinguish the topics. All of the series are intriguing, sometimes funny, and definitely enlightening. Leave an open box near your register and listen to the conversations that start when your customers pick a card.
