

PORTHOLE

Time to SE

Table Toppers

It's the first night of your cruise and you're seated with six total strangers. Talking about the ship and the weather will only go so far to break the ice. What you really need is a guaranteed conversation-starter, something that's provocative, yet unlikely to offend. Luckily, you brought along your nifty box of Table Topics, 138 cards that pose a range of stimulating questions, from the serious to the silly. Distribute them among your tablemates and get ready to really connect. Also available in family and teen versions, for $24 each, at www.uncommongoods.com.
